Youngs and son, Grove, of Higginsville, left Saturday morning for Glenwood Springs, Col., where they will take pack horses and go up into the Williams river basin, about 100 miles north, for a three weeks hunt after big game. That country is a hunter's paradise, there being plenty of elk, deer and bear. Trout fishing is also fine in the streams. Mrs. John Welborn accompanied the party and will remain at Glenwood Springs while the party are in the hills on their hunt. Mr. W. Scott Thomas, of Waverly will come up and act as jailor during the absence of his son, Oscar.

The coal mining machines have been put in operation in the Valley mine and are working to perfection. The machines are operated by electricity as will also the coal be pulled from the face to the bottom of the shaft. This is done by a trolley system, doing away with the mules heretofore used in the mines. The new mines, Valley and Midway, recently opened up by the coal company are the most complete and safest in the state. The air shafts have been built on a new plan so that bad air is almost an impossibility and there is no possibility of a mine disaster from bad air or black damp gas. They have broad gauge tracks and enlarged boxes. There is no trouble to load 2,800 to 3,000 on a box, whereas in the old narrow tracked mines 1,400 to 1,600 was a load. The superintendent, Capt. T. B. Wiley, has had a great deal of experience with coal mines and it is the result of his knowledge and untiring labor that these mines have been put in such fine shape and so thoroughly completed.

Excitement in Opera House.
Great excitement was created in the Higginsville opera house last Friday night during the progress of a dramatic entertainment. A fight took place in the lunch room underneath and the consequent noise alarmed the people in the playhouse, causing a general stampede for the doors under the impression that the building was on fire. Women, crushed and bruised alarmed the neighborhood by their screams, many fainting. Mrs. Charles Mitchell was thrown into convulsions by the excitement.

The fight was between George Logan, proprietor of the lunch counter, and Ed. Hill and Peter Straelsier, miners. Straelsier was quite badly out in the temple and was otherwise bruised, while Hill received a half dozen ugly cuts on the head and face. Logan claims to have acted in self-defense.

Maccabee Lodge Organized.
Elliott Tent of Maccabees was organized Monday night in the K. of P. hall with quite a few charter members, and the following officers were elected: T. J. Duling, past commander; Frank E. Carter, commander; J. E. Marshall, lieutenant commander; Dr. W. B. Weedon, physician; F. M. Hale, sergeant; H. A. Black, master at arms; Geo. E. Tunstall, first master guard; G. C. Marquis, second master guard; B. M. Proffitt, sentinel; W. S. Pooffenberg, picket. Trustees: F. E. Carter for three years, T. J. Duling two years and J. T. Dunaway one year.

The election of record keeper, finance keeper and chaplain was deferred until Friday night.

The new tent starts out under very favorable circumstances.

'Twas a Success.
Little Bo-Peep, a pastoral operetta in three acts, presented at the New Grand opera house Monday night by the little folks of Lexington under the immediate supervision of Miss Manly and for the benefit of the Baptist church, was a success both from a standpoint of catchy music and financially. Those who assumed the different characters of the child play were Georgia Bullard, Elaine Campbell, Joe Hinesley, Madge Nicholson, Cecil Lyons, Grace Jamison, Lillian Atkelson, Frank Chew, Basil Manly, Fern Bailey and Wilmer Chanslor. A number of children took part in the choruses and acquitted themselves creditably. Mrs. F. R. Bane was at the piano.

A Church Wedding.
Mr. William Pollard and Miss Maggie V. Glenn, of Lafayette county, were married at the Catholic church in Lexington Sunday by the Rev. Father D. M. Costello. The attendants were Mr. Walter B. Keating and Miss Ella Glenn, a sister to the bride.

The wedding was quite a surprise to the many friends of the bride and groom. Mrs. Pollard, the bride, is a charming lady of amiable disposition and a faithful member of the Catholic church. Mr. Pollard is a good citizen, honorable and energetic, well worthy the hand of any woman. May happiness attend them through life.

Editors Balthis and Dameron, of the Huntsville Herald are digging up what happened in their town forty-seven years ago from the files of the "Independent Missourian" published there at that time. It makes good reading.
